BEST PRACTICE I

BUILDING SOCIAL VALUES THROUGH BLOOD DONATION CAMPAIGN

OBJECTIVES OF THE PRACTICE

1. To ensure a stable and sufficient supply of blood for patients in need.
2. To encourage a culture of social responsibility enhancing the overall public health.
3. To educate the importance of regular blood donation
4. To expand the pool of eligible and willing donors

THE CONTEXT

Organizing blood donation drives within education institution serves as a powerful community service and social responsibility. Students learn the importance of selflessness and empathy. Such initiatives often create an ethos of solidarity, encouraging students and faculty to come together for a noble cause.

THE PRACTICE

Blood Donation is a vital practice, but it faces several constraints and limitations. Donors must be in good health to avoid adverse reactions. Organizing blood donation drives requires meticulous planning, adequate medical personnel and proper equipment. Efforts to educate the students and dispel the misconception of blood donation can be challenging to implement effectively.

EVIDENCE OF SUCCESS

Blood donation has a profound impact on healthcare systems worldwide. They play a crucial role in saving the life of human being and Blood donation camps are regularly conducted in the college. The success of blood donation drives is measured by the number of lives saved and improved through these efforts. A significant number of students and faculty at our institution donate blood regularly, thereby serving society.

PROBLEMS ENCOUNTERED AND RESOURCES REQUIRED

Lack of awareness brings misconceptions and can limit donor availability. Health concerns may deter potential donors. Implementing blood donation requires trained medical personnel and adequate medical supplies. Moreover, efficient coordination and planning are essential to raise awareness among the student community.

BEST PRACTICE – II

FOSTERING STRONG RELATIONSHIPS BETWEEN PARENTS AND TEACHERS THROUGH PARENT-TEACHER MEETINGS (PTM)

OBJECTIVES OF THE PRACTICE

- 1.To support the student's academic and personal growth.
- 2.To identify the areas of improvement and develop strategies to address any challenges.
- 3.To share parent's perspectives and concerns that benefits the student's overall development.
- 4.To enable the students to thrive both academically and emotionally.

THE CONTEXT

Parent-teacher meetings are essential for maintaining a collaborative environment that supports student development. These meetings facilitate open communication about any academic or behavioural concerns. Such interactions promote a cordial relationship between teachers and parents, ultimately benefiting the students.

THE PRACTICE

Parent-teacher meetings offer personalised feedback about a student's progress. They also facilitate a deeper understanding of the student's behaviour, learning style and interaction within the college environment. This practice enhances the overall support system for the students. Although this practice has certain constraints and limitations, such as time concerns and discomfort with open discussions, our institution takes measures to mitigate these issues and conducts these meetings regularly for the welfare of the students.

EVIDENCE OF SUCCESS

Successful meetings lead to a better understanding of each student's strengths and areas for improvement, aligning both parents and teachers on educational goals. Parent-teacher meetings are conducted every semester for all batches of students to review their academic progress. This allows parents to personally attend to their child's growth, and in turn, encourages students to take responsibility for their own knowledge development.
